

TODAY'S PRESENTATION:

Servant "and" Leader: the "and" matters
Christa Williams

Today's Presentation

Today we welcome Christa Williams.

Servant leadership, according to Robert K Greenleaf, boldly merges two paradoxical nouns; servant and leader. In this presentation, she will discuss the importance of understanding both these words and applying their associated behaviors as a leader in personal, organizational and community lives. And, we will discuss the relevance and need in today's world for more servant-leaders to lead.

Christa Williams is dedicated to "engaging and igniting the potential" in people through a conversational and engaging presentation style for keynote and facilitated learning experiences. As executive director of Sophia Transformative Leadership Partners (Sophia) for the past 13 years, Christa brings servant leadership to life as its operational leader, chief strategist, and learning facilitator. With more than 25 years of executive leadership experience in corporate, non-profit, and educational settings, she has been the lead designer and facilitator of Sophia leadership programs since 2011. She earned a Bachelor of Business Administration from UW-Oshkosh with Masters of Servant Leadership courses at Viterbo University. Christa has additional training and certifications in the areas of servant leadership, compassionate listening, group facilitation, and leadership coaching. Mentored, guided and inspired by the foremost leaders in the servant leadership movement today. Christa is a Gallup Certified Strengths Coach and specializes in the following areas: Servant Leadership, World Cafe', Strategic Planning, Strengths-based Leadership, Facilitation, and Learning Experience Design.

Thank you, Christa!
